

TED Talk - Bill Gates: The next outbreak? We're not ready

In 2014, the world avoided a global outbreak of Ebola, thanks to thousands of selfless health workers -- plus, frankly, some very good luck. In hindsight, we know what we should have done better. So, now's the time, Bill Gates suggests, to put all our good ideas into practice, from scenario planning to vaccine research to health worker training....

barrel	the WHO
basement	“to save the day”
a can of food	failure
we were supposed to go	devastating
to hunker down	contagious
catastrophe	to be bedridden
in the next few decades	to be concerned
likely	the turnaround time
rather than	pathogen
nuclear deterrents	NATO
actually	to deploy (rapidly)
epidemic	expertise
Ebola	R & D
tough challenges	the flu (influenza)
to track	significant
obvious key missing pieces	just (fair)
epidemiologists	to hoard
to spread	“to get going”
inaccurate	“an early warning”
to orchestrate	a wake-up call
to figure out

https://www.ted.com/talks/bill_gates_the_next_disaster_we_re_not_ready#t-93685